Life at Rotman ...

Message from the Dean

Congratulations to all our MBA students for completing another successful academic year at the Rotman School. Much of the excitement at the school comes from you, our students. In the past year, your energy, enthusiasm, commitment and hard work have made so many things happen that the Rotman name has stood out on the U of T campus, across Canada and throughout the business world.

Here are just some of the ways that your student initiatives have made the past year so memorable:

- Supporting the award-winning United Way Campaign;
- Organizing the outstanding event, FastForward.ca, the MBA Business Conference in January;
- Earning well-deserved victories in MBA case competitions in Montreal and Moncton.

Just as important were the successes that I know each of you have attained through your studies and in your lives. From participating in the Rotman School's first "integrative thinking" program as part of our Learning How To Learn course, to your personal achievements in the classroom, in your study groups, in your student associations and, of course, at Thirsty Thursdays!

How do we measure all these victories? I think one effective way is looking at the quality of business professionals who came to the Rotman School to meet you this year. Among these visitors, the many recruiters who came here were certainly impressed. As a result, you and your colleagues have landed exciting positions from Silicon Valley to New York, from Toronto to London, U.K.

Another way to gauge these victories is by the attention and support the School earns from the business community as we prepare students for successful careers. In May, the Rotman School gained a large show of this support when the Canadian Credit Management Foundation donated $10 million to the School to establish the CCMF Centre for Integrative Thinking. That major gift will dramatically help us in our journey to reinvent business education for the 21st century and ensure that our students continue to excel.

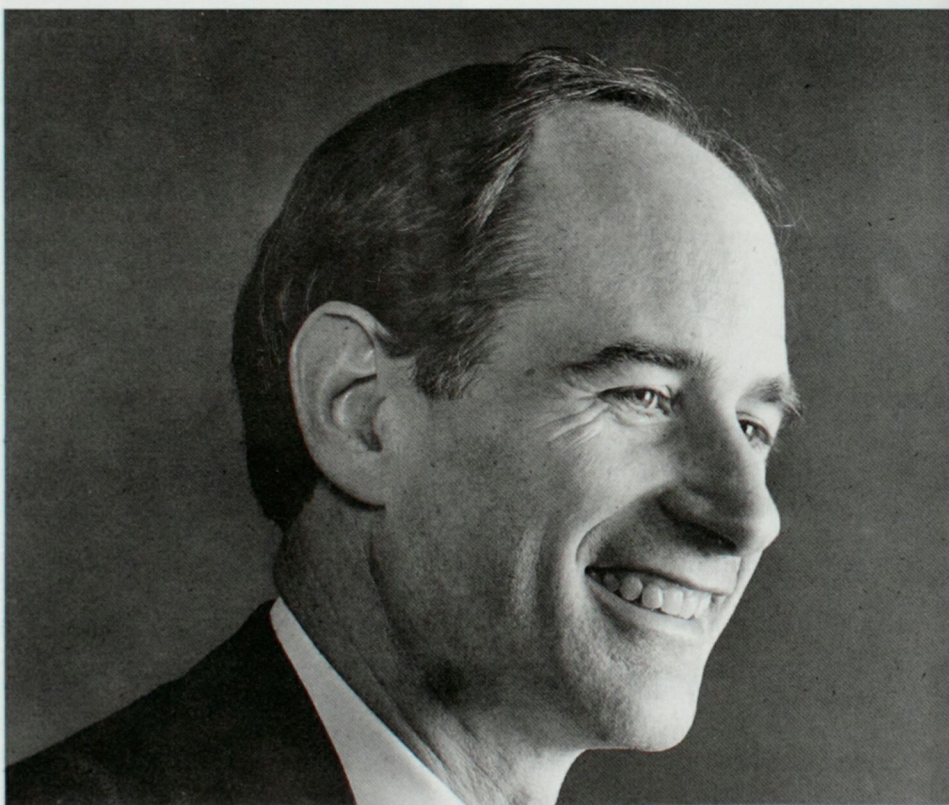

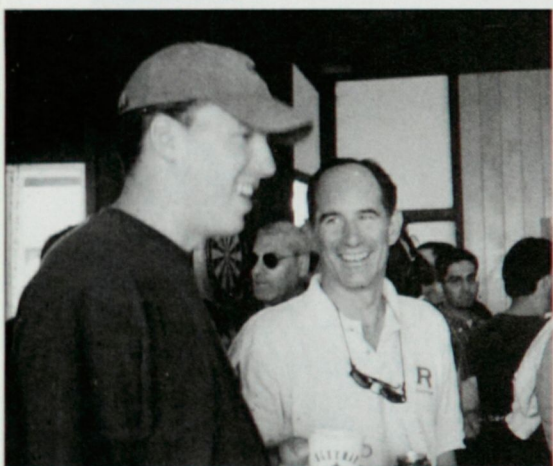

For those graduating this year, remember that the Rotman School can play an important role in your future career. You are now part of a worldwide network of more than 16,000 Rotman alumni. I encourage you to take advantage of the ongoing benefits available to Rotman alumni — the special programs, the formal and informal events, our executive programs. All these are examples of our commitment to provide Rotman alumni with opportunities for life-long learning.

As an alumnus, you also play an important role as the Rotman School continues to move forward and become one of the world's leading business schools. I urge you to keep in touch with your classmates and with us. The school is as close as our web site. You can also phone the Rotman Alumni Office or send me an e-mail at martin@mgmt.utoronto.ca. We look forward to hearing from you.

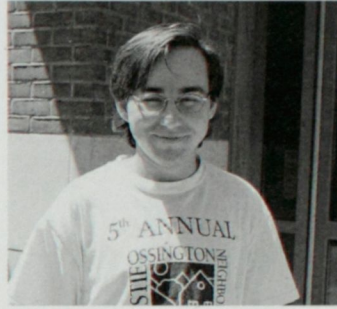

For those returning for another year of study, I look forward to seeing you keep adding to the excitement at the school and contributing to the growth of the Rotman name. On behalf of everyone at the Rotman School, best wishes for the future.
